DETAILED ACTION

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-33 and 55-92 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 41-63 of copending Application No. 10/131,446. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both the instant application and that of '446 claim a method of combining at least one drug with an agent with a first wettable liquid, mixing polymer resin with the liquid, preforming the mixture and extruding the preform to obtain an extruded article. The difference between the instant application and that of the '446 is that in the '446 application the claims further include the additional steps of processing the extruded article, which includes drying and stretching. To include these additional steps would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art because both sets of claims are drafted using "comprising" language, which is open language, which permits the inclusion, or exclusion of additional process steps and to eliminate or include further steps would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

2. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Underwood et al. teach a method of making an implantable graft by forming a straight tube, which is wrapped a tube while the tube is wet, and then drying the wet tube to obtain a shaped tube in bent form.
